DETAILED ACTION

Priority

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Yamaguchi et al. (U.S. Patent No. 4,907,089).

4. Regarding claim 1, Yamaguchi discloses a timing pulse generator which operates by supplying data from a ROM. More specifically, Yamaguchi discloses a horizontal ROM (65) and a vertical ROM (69). Each of the horizontal and vertical ROM's includes a counter (651 and 691, respectively) for counting the horizontal clock and the vertical clock (col. 12, lines 31-49 and col. 15, lines 43-52). The horizontal ROM includes a time-series data memory in the form of ROM (652) for storing time series data that represents logical level repetitive patterns. Additionally, Yamaguchi discloses an embodiment in which the ROM's (65 and 69) include an address ROM (653') for storing interval durations. These interval durations represent an interval

DCK between readings of the data ROM (654') which holds the time-series data (col. 13, lines 23-65). Based on the counts, the time-series data is output as control pulses.

5. As for claim 2, Yamaguchi discloses that the time-series data memory ROM (652) receives a count from the counter (651) and supplies the time-series data in response to the count supplied from the counter.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 3-11 are allowed.

7. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Regarding claim 3, the primary reason for allowance is that the prior art fails to teach or reasonably suggest an external memory for storing second time-series data as an alternative to the first time series data and second edge data as an alternative to the first edge data and means for selecting the first or second edge data and time-series data.

As for claim 7, the primary reason for allowance is that the prior art fails to teach or reasonably suggest a controller for generating second time-series data as an alternative to the first time series data and second edge data as an alternative to the first edge data and means for selecting the first or second edge data and time-series data.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
